

What is the Badger Foundation? _____

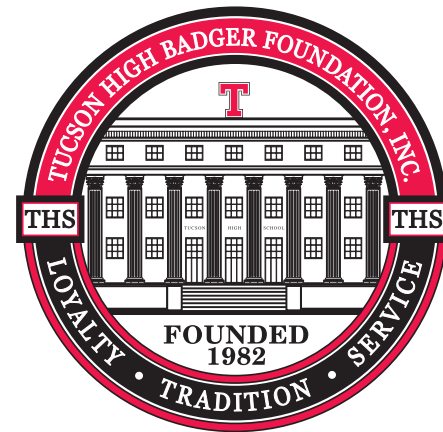

The Badger Foundation is the prime alumni organization for Tucson High School. It started in 1982 as a small group that raised funds for a Tucson High Jazz Band trip to Europe. By 1984, that nucleus became a 501(c)(3) non-profit charitable organization. The Foundation continues to honor education and strives to keep Tucson High students in school. The main sources of funding are membership dues, bequests, and donations.

The Foundation provides financial assistance to Tucson High students, faculty, and staff, which enables students and student groups to participate in special activities when student activity funding is not available.

The Foundation helps preserve the proud traditions and history of Tucson High and serves as an alumni association to assist with class reunions.

Members receive four newsletters annually. The social highlight of the year is the October Annual Meeting, which features the induction of new members into the Tucson High Badger Hall of Fame. The Hall of Fame recognizes alumni, faculty, and friends of Tucson High for excellence in educational, professional, and community achievement. Six of the previous school year's outstanding students are also honored at the Annual Meeting.

Bequests & Grants _____

Each spring, at the request of the alumni/donors listed below, the Foundation proudly presents awards in their names to graduating seniors who excel in specific areas. We thank them for their generosity.

 In 1996, Frances and John Barringer made the first of many donations to fund the Barringer Award, the recipients of which are students excelling in Fine Arts and Music.

 In 1997, Otis Chidester bequeathed $8,000 to fund the Chidester Award which recognizes the achievements of Photography and Graphic Arts students.

 In 1999, to honor her late husband's achievements in Mathematics and Computer Technology, Marie Palmer made a $6,000 donation to fund the Palmer Award which recognizes students who display excellence in those fields.

 In 2002, Wanda Rice bequeathed $20,000 with the request that the Badger Foundation begin an endowment fund from which the interest could be used to fund the Badger Foundation General Grants and Gifts Fund (The General Fund).

The General Fund's main sources of monetary support are membership dues, memorial gifts, and donations from individuals and class reunions. Through this fund, the Foundation provides financial assistance to the students, faculty, and staff of Tucson High throughout each academic year.
